

NBCI Congratulates Brian Moynihan and Bank of America on Having a Diverse Workforce and Strong Hiring Practices

We plan to move our new National Black Breast Cancer Fund (NBBCF) to Bank of America.

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES,
November 20, 2025 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- The National Black Church Initiative (NBCI) is a coalition of 150,000 African American and Latino faith communities, comprising 27.7 million members, and it congratulates Bank of America on its abiding commitment to a diverse workforce. We recognize that, due to the current regulatory environment, Bank of America has modified its language around diversity, but NBCI is pleased to see it remains committed to having a diverse workforce that reflects every segment of our society.

Rev. Anthony Evans, President of the National Black Church Initiative, says, "NBCI has been working hard with all parties—including government officials and corporations—to advance the proper language and programs that will benefit all Americans. Our goal is to live peacefully together."

This is why NBCI, with its 27.7 million members, will continue to work with and support Bank of America (BoFA).

Brian Moynihan, President, and CEO of Bank of America

NBCI has heard great things about Holly O'Neill, president of Consumer, Retail, and Preferred Banking at BofA. She has our support, and we look forward to working with her in the areas of employment, housing, and community development across the country.

The NBCI board was so impressed by Holly O'Neill's work with BofA to bring meaningful programs to our community. This is why the board of NBCI is moving its new National Black Breast Cancer Fund (NBBCF) to Bank of America. We are looking forward to calling this institution and executives like Holly O'Neill our partners.
